XIII INTERNATIONAL PRIZE FOR A DOCTORAL THESIS

2022

The Ana María Aldama Roy Foundation, which has the principal aim of promoting Latin Studies, invites applications for its Eleventh International Prize for Doctoral Theses. This is open to doctoral theses on Christian, Medieval or Renaissance Latin, which have been defended in Spanish or foreign universities and research centres between the 1st of October 2021 and the 30th of September 2023.

The winner will be awarded 2000 euros and the thesis will be published.

The theses may be presented in English, German, Basque or any of the romance languages, and must be submitted by email to contactar@fundacionamar.es, in pdf format, before the 31st of March 2023.

A jury of specialists will publish the results of the Foundation's website (www.fundacionamar.es) within the first fortnight of June 2023.

In order for the work to be published, the author undertakes to write a monograph on the thesis of 400 pages as a maximum, in line with the editorial standards laid down by the Foundation which will act as the publisher.

The deadline for submission of the original for publication will be one year from the awarding of the prize and cash will be made effective upon delivery.

In case of non-compliance with these requirements, the prize will go to the thesis proposed in second place or, failing that, the award shall be declared void.

Just with the application to this Award, it is implied the acceptance of these terms and conditions.
